

TELEPHONE NETWORK NODE DEVICE

ABSTRACT

The present invention is a network node device and method for connecting one or more telephone wirelines to one or more wireless connections. The network node device has one or more connections to one or more telephone wirelines, one or more wireless signal generators supporting one or more wireless connections; and one or more controllable interconnections between the telephone wirelines and the wireless signal generators.

DRAFTS - DRAFTS - DRAFTS